Secretaries to Cabinet are undeniably the most powerful officials in their governments, yet they work in relative obscurity, mostly sheltered from assessment and study. Patrice Dutil's new book, Searching for Leadership: Secretaries of Cabinet in Canada, probes the skills needed in this pivotal role.

Come and hear two former Ontario Cabinet Secretaries and Professor Dutil reflect on their experiences and discuss:

- What skills must a Cabinet Secretary have?
- What powers are at the disposal of a Cabinet Secretary to move the bureaucracy?
- How can you assess whether a Cabinet Secretary is successful?

■ Rita Burak is President and CEO of the consulting partnership, The Network Executive Team, Management Consultants, Inc.

■ Tony Dean is a Fellow at the University of Toronto's School of Public Policy and Governance.

■ Patrice Dutil was Acting Executive Director and Director of Research at the Institute of Public Administration of Canada before joining Ryerson University. Patrice has written extensively on e-government, regulatory policy and governance.

■ Carolyn Tuohy is a highly regarded author in the field of comparative public policy. Carolyn recently served in senior administrative posts at University of Toronto.
